Rustic

by James Patterson

The Rustic series showcases the highest level of craftsmanship, seamlessly combining the aesthetics of different eras. The airy silhouettes and rounded corners pay homage to mid-century design, while the strict geometry and crisp lines allude to the sophistication of Art Deco and the robust Anglo-Saxon style.

JAMES PATTERSON
designer

It's as if the surface of the oak veneer has been scorched by fire — an effect achieved through its grayish hue and rhythmic grooves perpendicular to the natural wood grain

The handles and charismatic brass bases contrast beautifully with the smoky hues of the wood, embodying rustic and ethnic motifs where deliberate simplicity is softened by the nobility of textures

Tapered brass legs encasing the body evoke the sleekness of a sharpened pencil

Glamour

by James Patterson

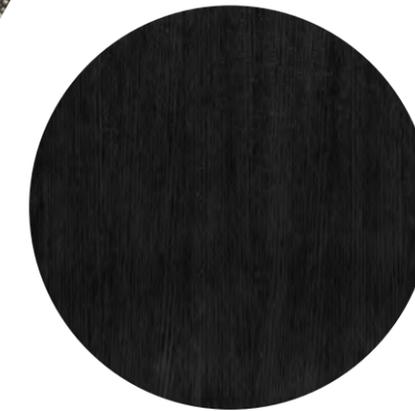

Glamour Collection is a magnetic masterpiece combining the allure of Art Deco with unmistakable British sophistication. The collection's distinctive charm is rooted in its exceptional finish – the facades are elegantly clad in artificial leather with the shagreen effect in noble ash-gray hues.

designer

What truly sets the Glamour Collection apart is the mesmerizing shagreen effect, a tactile delight that offers a subtly textured surface. This intriguing texture is thoughtfully complemented by the incorporation of brass elements. Brass edging surrounding the tabletop and handles reminiscent of Art Deco earrings add a compelling contrast to the models.

MATERIAL

solid ash tree and veneer, MDF, shagreen finish, brass

Pebble by Aiya Bureau

One of the defining features of the Pebble collection is its attention to detail. Precision craftsmanship ensures the sculpted fluidity of the form: there are no straight edges in the silhouette. Soft rounded curves enhance the furniture's overall expressiveness.

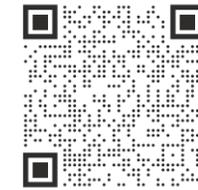

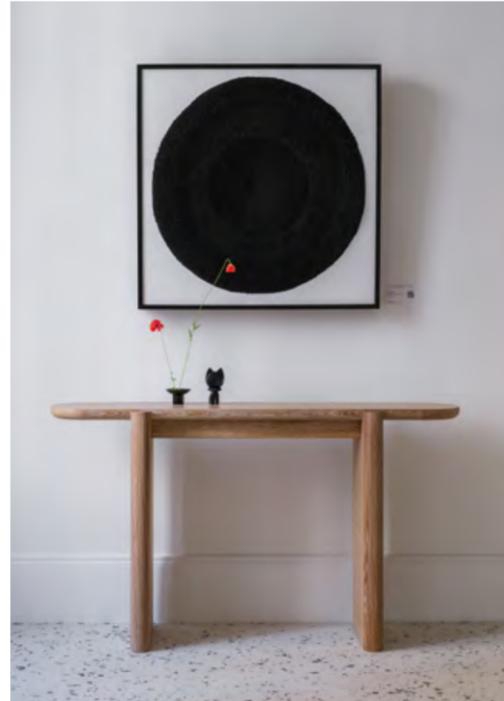

AIYA LI SOVA
Bureau Founder

Distinctive natural texture of solid oak is characterized by the swift lines of white veins that run through the wood, adding visual depth to each piece

Instead of traditional legs the Pebble collection incorporates thin blocks of solid wood, extending beyond the edges. Each element of the construction is finely tuned, creating the impression that the pieces are assembled like a Lego.

The natural stone tabletop, meticulously polished to perfection, enhances its exquisite tactile texture, infusing the room with an aura of timeless elegance, stability, and enduring sophistication

The series comprises eight sleek pieces for various rooms.

ELIZAVETA ZAR

The relief fronts, with their rounded edges resembling a row of bamboo sticks in a Japanese garden, showcase the unique grain pattern of the vibrant material.

The warm wheatish hue of the oak wood looks remarkably natural, making it one of the most sought-after tones in furniture finishes today

Chess by Nadya Levina

The versatile and elegant Chess modular storage system combines innovative design with functional beauty, making it a perfect addition to any home. With its unique construction set principle, the Chess bookshelf allows you to create endless compositions tailored to your space and style.

NADIA LEVINA
designer

The Chess bookshelf is available in two stunning finishes. Austrian decorative Egger panels in Anthracite Sherman oak perfectly replicate the natural surface of wood, giving the furniture a substantial and prestigious look. Alternatively, the laminated finish in light natural oak provides a Scandinavian lightness and charm. These options allow you to choose a style that best complements your interior design preferences.

The dynamic structure of the Chess model is created through the alternation of wide and narrow modules, open and closed fronts, and shelves at different heights.

Armony Kitchen

Welcome to our Made in Italy Corner, a dedicated space showcasing premium kitchens and wardrobes from the leading brands of the Bel Paese.

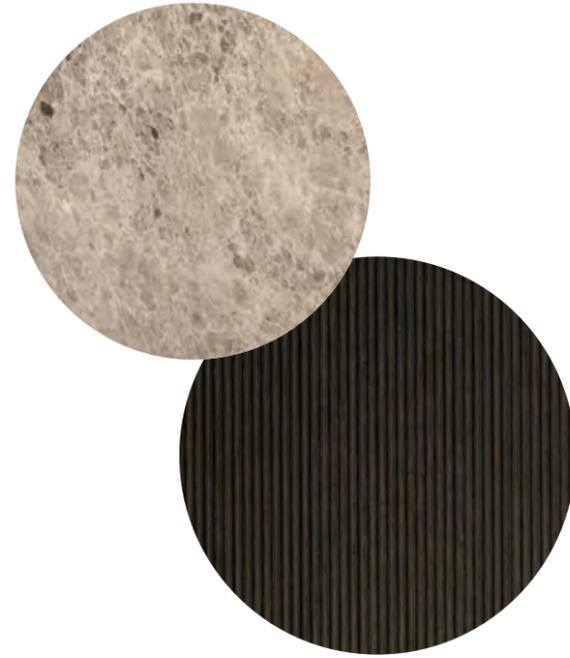

We have partnered up with Armony Cucine from Caneva, a firm chosen for its aesthetic which marries elegance with pragmatism. Armony defines contemporary living through an ongoing exploration of form and material. Production at its factories in Caneva and Mansuè marries skilled artisan craftsmanship with precision CNC technology, an approach that ensures exceptional quality while minimising waste.

Central to the brand's philosophy are the tactile quality of materials and a deep sense of environmental stewardship.

The design philosophy moves beyond conventional cabinetry, evolving storage into a continuous, architectural form. These are not merely standalone units, but elements that combine to create discreet, floor-to-ceiling planes.

ARMONY

Noor Kitchen powered by SCIC

Powered by SCIC, the Italian kitchen manufacturer, Noor reflects a production culture where structure, proportion and engineering are treated as a single whole.

Each Noor kitchen begins as a conversation. About how often meals are prepared, how many gather around the island, what needs to remain visible and what can disappear from view. From this dialogue, the composition takes shape.

Several material groups and dozens of colour options allow surfaces to respond to both space and light. Subtle shifts in tone help articulate volumes, allowing elements such as the island to appear lighter within the overall composition. Contrast emerges naturally, through texture, depth and shadow rather than through emphasis.

Tagliabue Mobili

Tagliabue
M O B I L I

In the pantheon of domestic luxuries, the walk-in wardrobe occupies a unique space – part atelier, part personal gallery. This is a room for ritual. Storage here simply keeps pace with the way you live. At our newly unveiled Made in Italy Corner, we have partnered with the Lombardy-based master cabinetmakers Tagliabue Mobili to present a singular interpretation from their catalogue: a liveable composition, selected and staged to demonstrate spatial ergonomics rendered tangible. The full catalogue is, of course, open to commission – but this is a case study in how storage can shape behaviour.

The finest wardrobes are calibrated to the rhythm of daily life. A truly successful scheme understands that one interacts with the stored items daily. You reach for a watch, deliberate over a jacket, sit to tie your laces. It is a choreography of small movements, and when the room is calibrated correctly, the mechanics recede – only the calm remains.

LIGHTING

Choose light

Table lamps, floor lamps, chandeliers, and sconces stand out with their harmonious proportions and unique combinations of finishes. Unexpected pairings of textures give each piece a distinctive charm, making them truly one of a kind.

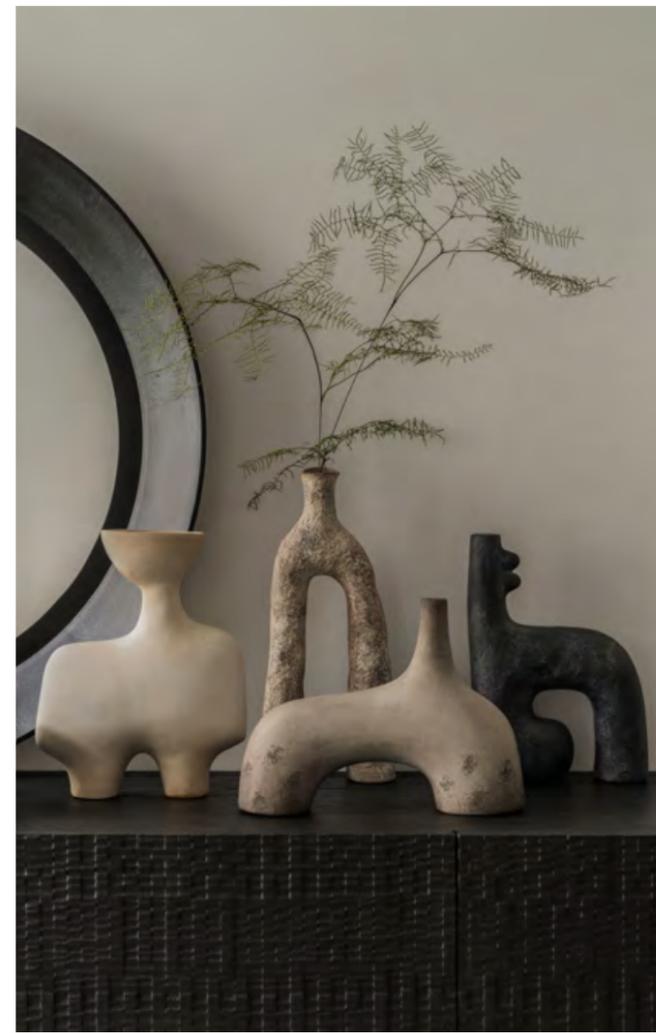

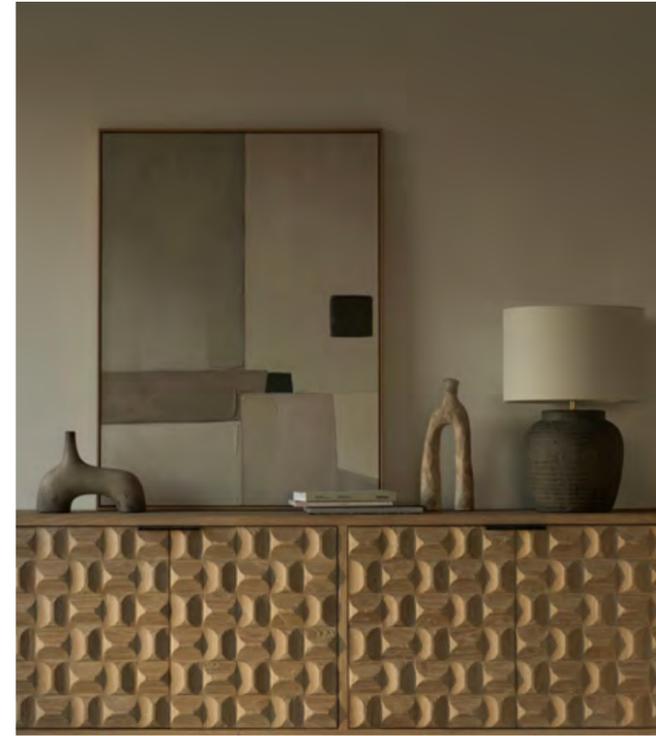

Modern interiors are designed to create a sense of softness and harmony, which is why designers increasingly turn to tactile natural materials and soothing, organic forms.

R O O T E D

The eye has to travel

Craftsmanship, tactile textures, natural hues, and eco-friendly materials are at their peak right now. Colored glass, ceramics, and all kinds of interpretations of a carefree summer vibe are also taking center stage.
